Description of School

Washington University in St. Louis is a medium sized research university with approximately 7,500 undergraduates. We have a diverse community with students coming from all 50 states and six continents as well as students of all different experiences and socioeconomic backgrounds. We offer five undergraduate divisions: College of Arts and Sciences, School of Engineering and Applied Science, Olin Business School, College of Art, and the College of Architecture. A hallmark of Washington University in St. Louis is our flexible academic program where students can study all across our five undergraduate divisions, mixing and matching what interests them. Our advising is extensive and personal to help students make the most of their four years. Students experience a supportive, engaged community that emphasizes collaboration.
